SCHOOL OF GEOSCIENCES

APPLICATION FOR GRADUATE ASSISTANTSHIP

This application simply identifies you as being interested in a graduate assistantship in the Geography and Environmental Science and Policy divisions of the USF School of Geosciences. The review of applications for these assistantships begins on March 1 for Fall semester applicants. Notifications are made approximately two weeks after the review process begins. Each application is given equal consideration and no priority is given to early applications. Applicants are selected on the basis of several criteria including topical interest, grade point average, GRE scores, experience, maturity, ability, departmental needs, money available, and recommendations.
